Goal 5 - Environmental Protection and Enhancement

Environmental Health Department

All food service establishments must display a current pass or fail sticker in a visible location, which is based on its most recent inspection results. A green "approved" sticker indicates that a food service establishment passed its food safety inspection by demonstrating safe and sanitary food service conditions. A red "unsatisfactory" sticker indicates that the food service establishment failed a routine inspection and has been downgraded until corrections are made.

Albuquerque's food establishments consistently achieve passing scores that ensure our community's food is safe.
