Goal 5 - Environmental Protection and Enhancement

Environmental Health Department

Food inspections ensure best management practices that prevent food-borne illnesses and protect the public health and safety of our community.

Based on a national average, health inspectors normally complete 2- 4 inspections per day. Albuquerque's highly-trained and efficient health inspectors currently average 6 inspections per day.

Despite increasing food permit numbers, total inspections temporarily decreased in FY11 as the division underwent staffing and process improvement changes. The now fully-staffed division is on track to exceed 10,000 inspections in FY14.
